Why join the CMA? Sarah Cardell, Chief Executive Officer, CMA

“ The CMA’s work involves an exceptional range of cutting-edge legal issues across our full suite of functions and responsibilities. This is a unique opportunity to provide first class legal and policy advice as we help people, businesses and the UK economy by promoting competitive markets and tackling unfair behaviour ”

The CMA drives market outcomes that benefit people and businesses across the UK. Our work is high profile, continually evolving and intellectually stimulating with a regular presence in national media and of interest around the world.

We are facing far-reaching changes in our external operating environment and equally material changes to our own responsibilities and functions. Alongside our existing merger control, competition and consumer law enforcement and markets regime powers, we have taken on new responsibilities providing advice on government subsidies and the UK’s internal market. The Digital Markets, Competition and Consumers Bill 2023 will give significant new powers to the CMA’s Digital Markets Unit, providing a vehicle for the UK’s new pro-competition digital regulatory regime.

As the CMA takes on ever-more complex work, the legal and policy questions we address sit at the heart of all that we do.

We are recruiting to two critical roles - General Counsel and Deputy General Counsel. Collectively, these roles will lead the provision of first class legal and policy advice across all CMA cases and litigation decisions.

Whilst the level of accountability and responsibility will vary, the essential criteria for both roles remains similar and candidates applying for these positions will be considered for both roles. Candidates will be informed through the process for which role they are to be considered. If candidates only wish to be considered for one of the two roles, they should make it clear in their personal statement.

The CMA is expanding its presence in Edinburgh, Cardiff and Belfast, setting up a new office in Manchester and creating a new Microeconomics Unit as part of the government’s Economic Campus in Darlington.

As General Counsel, you will report to me as CEO, and you will be a member of the CMA Senior Executive Team and Legal Advisor to the CMA Board. As Deputy General Counsel you will report to the newly appointed General Counsel.

This is an exciting time to join me as part of the CMA’s Senior Executive team to deliver exceptional legal and policy advice across all areas of our work, and to work as part of a joint leadership team to take the CMA forward beyond our 10 year anniversary as the volume, breadth, complexity and importance of the work we undertake extends to new frontiers.

The CMA is committed to equality, diversity and inclusion. We are a values-led organisation, treating people equitably and offering the support and development they need to succeed and reach their potential at work.

Like so many of my colleagues, I find the CMA a uniquely rewarding and interesting place to work. I hope you will find the details of the role in this information pack, of interest and that you will consider applying.

Best wishes, Sarah Cardell

Background to the Competition & Markets Authority

The CMA is an independent non-ministerial government department and is the UK's principal competition and consumer protection authority. We help people, businesses and the UK economy by promoting competitive markets and tackling unfair behaviour.

We derive our powers from the Enterprise and Regulatory Reform Act 2013 and our work is overseen by a Board and led by the Chief Executive and senior team. Decisions in some investigations are made by independent members of a CMA panel.

We adopt an integrated approach to our work, selecting those tools we believe will achieve maximum positive impact for people and the UK economy. Our main functions are:

- Investigating mergers that have the potential to lead to a substantial lessening of competition.
- Investigating businesses and individuals to determine whether they have breached UK competition law and if so, to end and deter such breaches, including by fining businesses and seeking the disqualification of directors of companies involved, as well as pursuing individuals who commit the criminal cartel offence.

- Enforcing a range of consumer protection law, including in cases where the unfair treatment of consumers or the challenges they face in making choices suggests there may be a systemic market problem.
- Conducting studies, investigations or other pieces of work into particular markets where there are suspected competition and consumer problems.
- Giving advice to policymakers and Ministers about our functions, including how they can design and implement policy in a way that harnesses the benefits of competition and protects and promotes the interests of consumers.

- Providing information and advice to people and businesses about rights and obligations under competition and consumer law.
- Promoting stronger competition in the regulated industries, working with the sector regulators.
- Conducting regulatory appeals and references in relation to regulatory arrangements under sector-specific legislation.
- Providing technical advice, reporting and monitoring in relation to the UK internal market, through the Office for the Internal Market (OIM)
- Providing advice, reporting and monitoring in relation to government subsidies, through the Subsidy Advice Unit (SAU).
- Operating a pro-competition regime for digital markets – to be introduced through the Digital Markets, Competition and Consumer Bill.

Our offices are located in Belfast, Cardiff, Darlington, Edinburgh, London and Manchester.

Selection Process

Atul Devani, a Civil Service Commissioner, will chair the process. The Civil Service Commission has two primary functions:

- Providing assurance that selection for appointment to the Civil Service is on merit on the basis of fair and open competition, in accordance with the Recruitment Principles. For the most senior posts in the Civil Service, the Commission discharges its responsibilities directly by overseeing the recruitment process and by a Commissioner chairing the selection panel.
- Hearing and determining appeals made by civil servants under the Civil Service Code, which sets out the Civil Service values –

Impartiality, Objectivity, Integrity and Honesty - and forms part of the relationship between civil servants and their employer.

More detailed information can be found on the Civil Service Commission website.

In addition to Atul Devani, the other panel members will be:

Longlist and Shortlist Selection

You will receive email acknowledgment of your application through the online process.

The panel will then assess your application to select those demonstrating the best fit with the role by considering the evidence you have provided against the criteria set out in the 'Person Specification' section. Failure to address any or all of these may affect your application.

At the longlist meeting, applications will be sifted to select those candidates demonstrating the best fit with the posts. Longlisted candidates will be invited to a preliminary interview with Russell Reynolds to discuss the role and their suitability in more detail. Due diligence checks will be carried out on all longlisted candidates. Following the preliminary interview, a panel shortlist meeting will take place where the results of the preliminary interviews will be discussed. Those candidates who demonstrate strongest suitability will be invited to final interview.

The timeline later in this pack indicates the date by which decisions are expected to be made, and all longlisted and shortlisted candidates will be advised of the outcome as soon as possible thereafter.

Assessment

If you are shortlisted, you will be asked to take part in a series of assessments which could include psychometric tests and a staff engagement exercise. These assessments will not result in a pass or fail decision. Rather, they are designed to support the panel's decision making and highlight areas for the panel to explore further at interview.

You will also have the opportunity to speak to Sarah Cardell prior to the final interview to learn more about the role and the organisation. Please note this is not part of the formal assessment process. We may take up references for shortlisted candidates prior to interview.

You will be asked to attend a panel interview in order to have a more in-depth discussion of your previous experience and professional competence in relation to the criteria set out in the Person Specification.

An opportunity will also be arranged for the appointed General Counsel and Deputy General Counsel to meet in person or virtually.

Interviews will consist of questions where candidates will be expected to build on the information provided in their personal statement and CV. Candidates may be asked to prepare a short presentation on a topic to be advised if/when invited to the interview stage. Full details of the assessment process will be made available to shortlisted candidates.

Offer

Regardless of the outcome, we will notify all candidates as soon as possible after the final interview.

Expected Timeline

We will try and offer as much flexibility as we can, but it may not be possible to offer alternative dates for assessments or interviews.
